Corporal Samuel Murrell.

Although the number of pensioners added to the rolls daily sometimes is almost as large as 100, there has not for many years been added to the rolls a soldier of the war of 1812. When in 1878 the act was passed allowing all survivors of that war pensions at the rate of $8, nearly all the survivors applied within a few months and were placed upon the rolls. Within the last few years it has been expected monthly that the list would be entirely wiped out. At the beginning of this fiscal year there were on Pension war. No one in the office imagined for three a moment that the list could possibly be changed, except through its being decreased.
